What Are We Worth?
New Russian Unit.
What's the Best Road?
A New Treaty.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Last year the people of this country took out nine thousand million dollars more life insurance than in any other year except one. The total insurance on the lives of Americans amounts to nearly fifty thousand million dollars.

How much are the hundred millions of Americans really worth? Nobody can answer that question, but it is sure that they are worth many times fifty thousand millions of dollars.

They are worth all that the United States is worth—farms, factories, mines, and as much more as intelligence, courage, and skill can get out of the ground.

The wealth of the country is represented by its natural resources, plus human intelligence working through machinery. How much was this country worth when there were only Indians to ride over it and kill wild animals and each other?

Russia has officially given up the gold ruble as the basis of value. Some other unit is to be established, perhaps goods, perhaps a day of Russian labor. Years ago this fall of gold would have delighted Mr. Bryan. But now he is off on another track, hunting Darwin over the mountains and through the valleys. Besides, nations that have managed to hold on to gold and stick to the gold basis seem to be doing rather well, comparatively.

What will be the perfect road when built, when all earth travel is in automobiles and steel roads—destroying horse-drawn carts? Many substances have been used—clay, shells, slag, rubber, seaweed, cotton, straw, planks.

In Valencia, Spain, a road of steel has been used for twenty years, and here cement roads are reinforced with steel, laid in sections to allow for expansion.

The cheapest road is the road that lasts longest, as the cheapest roof is the roof that lasts longest. In these dull days for the steel industry it might pay to try the Spanish steel road here.

An Egyptian king kept a hundred thousand men working for ten years, laying great stone roads, transporting materials of which the pyramids were built. Why doesn't this Government use some of the gold piled up in its Treasury to build roads that the country needs, and give work to men that need it?

Some were shocked when Germany announced a treaty with Russia. England was shocked when she was told, after the thing was done, that the Italians and Turks had made a treaty. Now there is talk of a German-Russian-Turkish-Bulgarian alliance.

What will surprise most of all, if it comes along, and very likely it will, will be "an arrangement" very close to a treaty between England and Germany.

Most important in that treaty, many Englishmen think it will come, will be an arrangement for Germany and England to work harmoniously in Russia, not fighting each other, but developing whatever there is to be developed. Business soon forgets hatreds.

Senator Borah is trying to find out why a "Russian ambassador," having no connection with the present government of Russia, is recognized at Washington and allowed to spend in his own way tens of millions of American money lent to Russia.

The Government would not recognize, or allow its money to be spent by an ambassador appointed in this country by the former kaiser of Germany. Why recognize as Russian ambassador a man, however estimable, appointed by Kerensky five years ago?

Beware of eggs and mayonnaise dressing mixed. A Paris magistrate died after eating the mixture, which had been allowed to stand for some time. Cream, eggs, and mayonnaise dressing mixed up must be eaten at once or LOOK OUT.

Kitchen doctors develop microbes unlimited if allowed to stand, and may cause death. Moses would not allow milk, butter, or any milk product to be eaten with meat. He knew nothing about microbes, never heard of them, but he knew a good deal about health, especially in his own warm climate.

The Canadian navy in one year costs less than two million dollars. This shows what can be accomplished by an agreement between nations, when based on sincerity and common sense.

We agree with Canada to keep no fighting ships on the Great Lakes. Canada knows that we have not the most remote intention of attacking her at any time, on land or water. So she is able to save her money. Without that Great Lakes agreement the Canadians would have had to keep millions every year to keep their ships uselessly and waste the

MRS. VAN WINKLE GOES TO COURT

Wife Finds Police Deserter Is Bigamist

LOHMAN'S MARRIAGE IN VIRGINIA ATTACKED

Former Washington Man Also May Be Prosecuted on White Slave Charge.

By Staff Correspondent.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., May 5.—Reading in the newspapers of the marriage here on April 14 last of her husband, Julius J. Lohman, deserter from the Metropolitan police of Washington, to Miss Mary Louise Donaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Donaldson, of Washington, Mrs. Corinne Julia Lohman came to Fredericksburg yesterday with her attorney and swore out a warrant against Lohman for bigamy and perjury.

Slave Charge Intimated. Mrs. Lohman's attorney, E. McEl. Kintz, of 308 Albee building, Washington, said he would make an investigation so as to secure evidence to charge Lohman with white slavery and adultery.

In Fredericksburg, Mrs. Corinne Lohman claimed she was the first and legal wife of Julius Lohman and had never secured a divorce from him, although it was her intention to do so.

She brought with her marriage license, her husband's photograph, and his signature. The more recent marriage license of Lohman, secured at the corporation court of this city, was minutely examined and the signatures were found to be identical.

His right age and other facts as to his birth, etc., were in accordance with the facts, Mrs. Lohman asserted.

The license for Lohman's second marriage was issued on April 14, 1922, and they were married on the same day by the Rev. Emerson L. Smith, pastor of the Baptist Church, at the parsonage.

The groom gave his full name as Julius J. Lohman, his age as twenty-nine, his birthplace as Baltimore, Md., and mailing address as 1728 Pratt street. He gave his occupation as carpenter, after telling the deputy clerk laughingly he was a bootlegger.

Lohman also stated when securing the license that he was single. The bride gave her name and address as Miss Mary Louise Donaldson, twenty-two years old, although she appeared to be much younger. She said she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Donaldson, of Washington, D. C., and was unmarried. Miss Donaldson was very good-looking, and of the type referred to as "flapper."

The couple motored to Fredericksburg from Washington, and after securing the necessary papers from the clerk's office, went directly to the home of the officiating minister, where the knot was tied.

The first Mrs. Lohman did not know of her husband's second marital alliance until its publication in a local newspaper. She wrote a letter to Rev. Mr. Swift and others, requesting information concerning the marriage, after which she consulted her attorney. The subsequent visit to Fredericksburg followed.

Married in 1917. The first Mrs. Lohman appeared to be about twenty-four years old. She is exceptionally pretty and stylish. Her attorney brought with him her original marriage license, which showed that her marriage to Lohman took place on November 8, 1917, at Upper Marlborough, Md.

She declared her husband was at one time a deserter from the Metropolitan police department of the National Capital, but later returned his paraphernalia to headquarters. He had since been unemployed, she said, in referring to his occupation given when securing the license. Mrs. Lohman stated her husband was a carpenter when in

LABOR WILL ONLY SUPPORT WET CANDIDATES IN FALL

ALBANY, N. Y., May 5.—Only candidates who come out squarely for light wines and beer will be supported by labor at the polls next November. This was decided here today by the non-partisan committee of the State Federation of Labor.

The principal plank in the platform adopted by the committee reads:

"Legalizing light wine and beer as beverages in the interest of health, temperance, morality and law enforcement."

WOMAN PAYS, SAYS MISS KNOX

LETTELLIER WINS SUIT FOR PEGGY FOR POLICE ROW

Much-Married Actress Said to Have Accepted Frenchman's Proposal.

By International News Service.

PARIS, May 5.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who is again in the limelight as a result of the suicide of her friend, "Billy" Errazuriz, this afternoon said she will sail for the United States on Sunday, "unless she changes her mind."

By BASIL D. WOON, Universal Service.

PARIS, May 5.—Although both principals formally deny it, I am in a position to affirm that Henri Letellier's suit for the hand of Peggy Joyce has at last been successful.

The richest man in France, because of his persistent wooing of the stubborn American "million-dollar doll," finally overcame her objections to adding just one more millionaire to her list of husbands.

Crushed by the events of the past few days, during which she has been practically prostrated in bed, Peggy has at last given in to "France's greatest lover," who since Peggy arrived in Europe in February is reported to have proposed marriage to her no less than eleven times.

His final supplication came yesterday after Peggy had received a cablegram from her family saying that her mother is seriously ill as a result of the false story cabled from Paris that Peggy had taken an overdose of veronal and was near death.

When I saw her last night she once haughtily beauty was stricken and sobbing hysterically.

"Oh, what do they do these cruel things for?" she cried. "Aren't they satisfied with ruining my life? Didn't they think I might have a mother back home whom such news would almost kill?"

Then Peggy frantically telephoned the steamship offices, trying to get a reservation on the Mauretania, which sails Saturday. Later she reconsidered this plan, after being assured that the veronal story had already been refuted in New York.

She declared that she might stay a few days longer.

So she is now apparently wavering between the desire of Henri Letellier that she retire to a little home in the country and her own homesick heart.

"Just now I am like any other little homesick girl far from home," she said to me. "I want to go home."

COMPLETE WORDS AND MUSIC OF "SPRING'S LOVE SONG"

Written by Ellen Marlon Welsh

Will Be Given Away With The Washington Times Sunday Morning

This is a delightful ballad by the Washington composer who wrote "Your Smile," published in The Sunday Times recently, and which made a tremendous hit. The melody and lyric of next Sunday's song will have a strong appeal for all who long for good music.

National Warning in Senator New's Defeat

THE Administration at Washington is beginning to learn the result of its foreign alliance policy.

It was elected by an enormous majority because the citizenship desired to rebuke Wilson for his attempt to abandon America's policy of freedom from foreign alliances.

It is now going to be defeated quite as overwhelmingly because it, in its turn, entered into entangling alliances with foreign nations in defiance of George Washington's injunction and of the historic precedents of the nation. The offense of the Republican Administration is even greater than that of the Wilson Administration for the reason that the Republican Administration leaders denounced as un-American the Wilson policy of foreign alliances, and pledged themselves definitely and specifically in the clauses of the Republican platform and in the speeches of the candidates to reverse the Wilson policy and to abide by the policy of no entangling alliances enunciated by Washington and repeated and adhered to by all great American statesmen since Washington's day.

The Republican Administration pledges were repudiated, the people were betrayed and the President and Senate sold America's birthright of independence for a mess of international bankers' pottage.

Now comes the opportunity of the people to retaliate, however. Elections are on. Democrats are beating Republicans at the polls, and, where there is no chance of a Democrat beating a Republican, anti-Administration Republicans are defeating Administration Republicans at the primaries.

Senator New has been the Administration spokesman in the Senate, the leader of the pledge breakers, the chief exponent of the foreign alliance faction, the dependable agent of the international bankers. He has just been defeated in the Indiana primaries by twenty thousand majority. Beveridge, anti-Administration Republican, has wiped Senator New off the map, retired him to private life, where he belongs, and where he can serve the international bankers more honorably, although less effectively.

American Republicans generally are defeating foreign alliance Republicans, and, where they are not doing so, Washingtonian-Jeffersonian Democrats are defeating the betrayers of the American people and of historic American principles and policies. But remember, gentlemen of the Democratic party, Washingtonian Democrats are not Wilsonian Democrats.

The Democratic party must not repeat its mistake of two years ago. If it does it will repeat its defeat of two years ago. When the Democratic party returns to power it must return to Democracy.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS STEADY CLIMB UPWARD

By W. S. COUSINS, (Copyright, 1922, by Cosmopolitan News Service.)

NEW YORK, May 5.—Without exhibiting any of the speculative extravagance that has been so much in evidence in recent weeks, the stock market moved steadily forward in the early afternoon. Public utility stocks were more active under the leadership of Consolidated Gas, which sold today at 120 1/2, the highest price of the year. The high priced tobacco stocks showed unusual activity and wide forward moves were made in Lorillard, Liggett and Myers and American Tobacco.

Studebaker preferred made a new high at 112 on renewal of reports that the directors of the company had agreed to pay a dividend of 10 cents a share. The company is reported to have been buying up its bonds in the open market for retirement and to be contemplating placing the stock on a dividend basis.

The independent steel stocks were comparatively inactive today.

WASHINGTON GAME IS CALLED OFF BY RAIN

BOSTON, May 5.—Rain again interfered for the second time the Boston Red Sox and Washington Griffins are idle today.

The final game of the series is scheduled for tomorrow, and then the Griffins will chase back to Washington. They will play the Yankees Sunday in the Capital, and on Monday will meet the Browns in the first contest of a long home stay.

GIVEN 20 YEAR TERM ON CHARGE OF SLAYING

Declares She Was Given Fair and Impartial Trial by Judge and Jury.

By KIRK C. MILLER, Staff Correspondent.

MONTESS, Va., May 5.—

"Woman, always woman, bears the burden," was the comment of Miss Sarah E. Knox, who was found guilty of murder in the first degree last night after a trial which occupied the greater part of nine days.

She was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary at Richmond.

Has Seen Much Suffering. "I have seen men and women suffer, in my professional duties," declared the middle-aged trained nurse, "but it has always seemed to me that the greater agony comes to the woman, not the man."

"God seems to have given us a greater capacity for pain and few of us live our days without undergoing our full meed of physical and mental torture."

"I know well what the future holds for me, but I face it with unfaltering faith and trust in the knowledge that right shall prevail."

"Before I underwent the ordeal from which I have just emerged, I never dreamed that rural Virginia justice could be so equitable toward a prisoner against whom there was so much community prejudice as there was against me."

"Judge Chinn presided over the destinies of his court with rare legal acumen. There was not an occasion that he did not give my counsel, and myself every consideration."

Still Strong for Eastlake.

"Miss Knox, has your attitude toward Roger D. Eastlake changed since your conviction or since he testified against you?" she was asked.

"When a woman gets to be my age her affections are pretty definitely established, and are hardly, I ever, altered. My love for Roger was no greater than it was for his two children and his wife. My interest in the Eastlake family was collective, not individual. One much loved wife, like one of their family, and they entertained the same relationship for me."

The county seat of Westmoreland county, Va., is getting back to normal today. One much loved wife, like one of their family, and they entertained the same relationship for me."

With that unsavory business cancelled, the two general mercantile stores are the sole centers of interest, and in a few days the last vestige of two criminal prosecutions will have been cleared away, for Sarah E. Knox will have left for the State penitentiary at Richmond.

"Boys Go Back to Whittling."

Around here the "boys" have already taken up their whittling again.

Westmoreland county has openly expressed its pity for Sarah Knox, the silent woman who sat through nine days of tedious trial without complaint and without a whimper. Always she sat there with the back of her head resting against her chair and with eyes gazing out of an open window just above the heads of the jurors.

Judge Chinn's almost apologetic comment to the prisoner that she had heard the verdict of the jury, expresses best how they feel around Bill Harris' and Joe Harvey's fancy and staple grocery stores were all matters, public and private, are discussed in open forum.

Even though she was a condemned woman, Judge Chinn lost not one scintilla of grandeur when
